

STAGE AND CINEMA

Los Angeles Theater Review: TRAINSPOTTING

Tom Chaits / March 15, 2013

“Justin Zachary is a theatrical force to be reckoned with.”

ARCHIVAL SUMMARY

The review praises Zachary's sustained, finely honed performance as the production's backbone. It also recognizes the difficulty of maintaining credibility opposite two alternating casts and commends Roger Mathey's fluid direction and control of the stark staging.

Review of the Elephant Theatre production in Hollywood.

READ THE ORIGINAL ARTICLE ■

stageandcinema.com/2013/03/15/trainspotting-elephant/